Property Description

The must-have Costa Rican real estate market is shifting to the south of the country and doing so at a very quick pace (don't get left behind!). This Southern Pacific area is particularly attractive to clients who are looking for peace, serenity, and communing with nature, as well as safety, spectacular views and even the chance to own your own piece of the evergreen lush jungle – after all, you don't need anything else to be fully happy! This property offers all of the above benefits, plus proximity to: beautiful unspoiled beaches, tourist attractions like deep sea fishing, horseback riding and ziplining, and the towns of Ojochal and Uvita, which hold all the amenities you will ever need here – supermarkets, shops, restaurants and cafes, dentists, vets, and many many more. The property is located on the road between Ojochal and Cortez, in a gated and well laid-out community. The lot presents the perfect spot for a beautiful nature immersed home.
