Property Description

This lovely gem is a unique and colorful custom-built home, situated in a virtually hidden Expatriate community of neighbors in the friendly rural town of Grifo Alto. Grifo Alto means 'tall tap' or high faucet of spring water and is said to offer some of the purest water in Costa Rica. Although located in the mountains, it's only a one-minute drive to shop at one of three small stores which stock many basic necessities and offer friendly locals to assist. The house rests high in the cloud forest mountains of Puriscal where the sound of nature constantly calls, coupled with some of the most majestic views to be witnessed, this house is waiting to be discovered by someone lucky enough to own it. Through the private electronic iron gate of this open concept custom design, you're greeted with an imaginatively colorful home, incredible tropical landscape, and distinctive double front doors bordered with decorative tiles.
